

Steven Guldan

Superintendent, Agronomist, Sustainable Agriculture Science
Center at Alcalde, New Mexico
Professor, Plant and Environmental Sciences, New Mexico State
University, Las Cruces, New Mexico 88003

Office: 505-852-4241
Fax: 505-852-2857
Email: sguldan@nmsu.edu

Education

1986 Ph.D. Agronomy, University of Minnesota
1984 M.S. Agronomy, University of Minnesota
1981 B.S. Geography, Mankato State University

Professional Experience

2003-Current Professor, Plant and Environmental Sciences, New Mexico State University
1998-2003 Associate Professor, Plant and Environmental Sciences, New Mexico State University
1992-1998 Assistant Professor, Plant and Environmental Sciences, New Mexico State University
1992-Current Superintendent, Agronomist, Sustainable Agriculture Science Center at Alcalde
1988-1992 Agronomist, Michael Fields Agricultural Institute, Carrington, North Dakota
1986-1988 Postdoctoral Fellow, International Maize and Wheat Improvement Cntr., El Batan, Mexico

Primary Research Interests

Various horticultural and agronomic crops and cropping systems. Hydrologic and ecological aspects of traditional Acequia irrigation systems.